

FTBO Daily News

Saturday June 7, 2008

Day 2 News

By FTBO Beat Writer – Rusty Irons

The 10th Annual FTBO took Victoria by storm yesterday... With the jewel of the Golf Season on the line, as always golfers will do whatever it takes to take home the Gold Jacket. Although Jaret Sledz's plan of taking multiple double pars definitely didn't help his cause...

Today players have to keep one eye on the Leader board, and the other eye on the Ryder Cup. Today marks the first of 2 full days of Matches to determine if Team Fleming or Team Rogers will take home the cash & the crown.

Today's Matches are TEAM matches... 2 vs. 2. You will be riding in a cart with your teammate, and your objective is to take down the other side! Each match is worth $100 to the winning team.

On with news...

THE LEADER BOARD

The first person to have the honor of wearing the coveted Gold Jacket in 2008 was Dean Dyer, the guys in his foursome were amazed at how deadly he was with his shoe hybrid.

The other end of the Leader board saw an equally as memorable effort by Rick Murphy – After most of his putts, players could overhear words of encouragement such as: Well, your line was bad, but you miss-hit it too. When FTBO is over, he should probably sell his clubs.

NEW TECHNOLOGY

This is the new Ping Craz-E putter. It's new raised alignment lid is state of the art. A higher moment of inertia is achieved using this insert. It's perimeter weighting is unparalleled in golf. With all of this technology, Ping is poised to dominate to market, meanwhile experts continue to marvel at how the Craz-E works so well for Russ Hewson, but Disco still putts like shit.

FOOT WEDGES

DEFENDING CHAMP: Ian Wilson is serious about repeating as Champion this year... He shot his handicap on Day 1 & there were no reports of him trying to beat the crap out of Rohn Meyer last night.

CLOSE CALL: Did you see that funny looking guy last night, drinking fruity umbrella drinks? That was Peter Martin. He's with us. You should introduce yourself.

Best of luck on Day 2...